In Game

The Jailbird is a unique weapon that can only be obtained with SCP-914. The weapon can be swung with `Left Click`, dealing 50 damage to anyone it hits. This will bypass Armor, Artificial HP and Hume Shield. The Jailbird can be charged by holding `Right Click`. After a few seconds, the weapon is fully charged and ready to be used. Upon releasing `Right Click` the player charges forward at 17 m/s, with a blue streamer trail effect. The charge will end after the player hits something or after a short amount of time. The charge speed is a set value, overriding both positive and negative movement speed multipliers. A charge attack will deal 200 damage upon hit, and like before, this bypasses Armor and Hume Shield. Targets who survive this attack will be given the Concussed Status Effect for four seconds. The Jailbird also does quadruple damage towards SCP-049-2, making it an incredible weapon against SCP-049.

The Jailbird will malfunction after dealing a total of 500 damage with its swing, or after using its charged move five times. The item is then removed from the player's inventory. The Jailbird's lights will change from blue to red to warn a player it is about to break. The weapon will violently exploded if it breaks from a charged attack. This will instantly kill the user and deal massive damage to anything nearby, similar to a High-Explosive Grenade. This explosion has an armor penetration of 50%.
